HARRIET MILLER
Superintendent

Vol. 4, No. 1

September 1, 1960

Educational television for Montana schools will be studied this year by State Superintendent Harriet Miller's Educational Television Committee, as a result of a Ford Foundation grant just made to the Committee. The $21,450 grant will make possible a year-long survey of Montana's educational TV needs. The study will be directed by Dr. Erling Jorgenson, Director of Radio and Television at MSU. Committee members include representatives from the six university units, plus elementary and secondary school people . . . M. C. Gallagher, Billings Superintendent; Mrs. Laura Jane Taft, Glacier County Superintendent; Peter Vukad, Wibaux Superintendent; Al Blockey, Division of Visual Education, Bozeman, and Miss Miller.

Department of Public Instruction staff news, since last spring's issue . . .

William L. Erickson, Director of Instructional Services and NDEA Coordinator, was appointed Deputy State Superintendent on July 1, succeeding Paul T. O'Hare who resigned to accept the post of Assistant to the Superintendent of the Billings schools. Erickson continues with his NDEA duties.

James F. Watkins, former Superintendent of Schools at Stanford, joined the DPI in June as State Supervisor of Mathematics and Science for NDEA, to replace Clark W. Fowler who earlier was appointed Director of Financial and Statistical Services.

Dean M. Lindahl, former Superintendent of Schools at Valier, succeeds Parks Whitmer as Director of School Transportation. Whitmer, who received a graduate fellowship under NDEA, begins studies this month at the University of Denver.

Betty Lou Hoffman, assistant to the State Supervisor of Home Economics Education, resumed her duties this summer after a year's leave, during which she studied for her Master's Degree at Michigan State University.

William C. Howard, former Superintendent of Schools at Colstrip, becomes Director of Indian Education this month, succeeding Knute W. Bergan, who has retired after 40 years of service to Montana schools.

Richard C. Mattson, former Guidance Counselor at Flathead County High School, Kalispell, this month becomes Supervisor of Special Education and Field Supervisor for Guidance. Former Special Education Supervisor Richard C. Schofer, now completing his doctorate at Colorado State College, spent his month's "vacation" at the DPI to help out in the interim.

Mac Johnson, Aviation Education Supervisor, left the DPI September 1 to join the faculty of Northern Montana College at Havre.

Course Guide Information . . .

SCIENCE: Now being distributed -- the Tentative Montana Science Guide for Grades 7-12, including Junior High School -- covering Biology, Chemistry, Physics and, for junior high, one year courses in Life Science, Earth Science, Physical Science. In trial use for the first time last year, this guide was revised by the Science Curriculum Committee during the summer, on the basis of teacher comments.
